Dear Parent(s):

Consolidated High School District 230 has provided information to us for students who will be attending Stagg High School in the 2018-2019 school year. We are sharing this information with you so that you have additional information about the process of enrolling your child for his/her freshman year.

Timeline:

1. 8th grade students will take a placement test on Saturday, November 4, 2017 at Stagg High School.
2. Teachers from Worth School District 127 will be making recommendations for course placement to Stagg during the months of November and December.
3. Stagg High School will release course recommendations to 8th graders the last week of January 2018.
4. 8th grade registration will take place on Saturday, February 3, 2018 at Stagg High School.

Testing Information:

Stagg High School will be administering the PSAT8 test to incoming 8th graders on November 4, 2017. Students can access practice tests prior to their testing date by getting on the Internet and going to Khan Academy. Specifically, the web address is <https://www.khanacademy.org/>. This site is free and has resources for students to become familiar with the type of test they will be taking. The site also provides excellent tutorials.

Worth School District 127 is administering the MAP (Measures of Academic Progress) test during the week of September 18, 2017. Please note that your signature on the release of information form allows our district to send the score information from the MAP test to Consolidated High School District 230.

Please Note:

It is very important that you return the signed release form to us by Friday, September 22, 2017. On that date, we will transmit the information that Stagg High School needs so that they can contact you directly. If you have any questions about this information, please feel free to contact Mr. Joseph Zampillo, principal of Worth Junior High School.

Sincerely,

Rita Wojtylewski, Ph.D.
Superintendent
Worth School District 127
